mission statement

Queensland Narrating Service is a non-profit community organisation that enables people with print disabilities to exercise their right to access desired information in audio formats, enabling them to enrich their lives and participate in decisions that affect them. QNS operates in a fair and responsible manner in our dealings with volunteers, staff, funding providers, agencies representing people with print disabilities and the broader community.

quality

Queensland Narrating Service employs stringent processes which ensure that the quality of QNS audio books continues to improve and meet the high standards expected by readers and librarians. Queensland Narrating Service's Quality Management System is certified under AS/NZS ISO9001:2008. Feedback is encouraged and appreciated.

Narrators are skilled and motivated people often with backgrounds in radio broadcasting and acting.

qns audio - open access - special access

Consumers' special needs are an important consideration:

- All audio formats are clearly identifiable by introductions, endings and tactile numbering
- CDs are track marked at each chapter for easy navigation
- All QNS audio books are complete and unabridged

QNS offers both open access books (narrated for the general community) and special access books (narrated for people with print disabilities). For a definition of print disability see www.qns.net.au

No unauthorised copying, broadcasting or public performance of these recordings is permitted.

prices

All prices quoted in this catalogue include GST and presentation folders with full colour cover insert.

mp3 format

The QNS MP3 format has chapter sub-sections and 3 minute interval sub-sections. This means that the QNS MP3 format can be played in DAISY machines with a high level of navigation.

AMIRI, Dawood

autobiography

Confessions of a People Smuggler

narrator: Hugh Taylor

Dawood Amiri is an ethnic Hazara who, as a young man, made the fateful decision to flee the terror being inflicted on his people and seek asylum in Australia. He arrived in Indonesia in 2010, but was eventually captured when he was about to board a boat headed for Christmas Island. After a long stint in detention, where immigration processes failed to help him, he escaped and began working for people-smugglers to aid his fellow asylum-seekers and to raise money for his own passage to Australia.

Amiri was eventually arrested a people-smuggler himself, after having helped gather passengers for a boat that was recklessly overloaded by his bosses and sank en route to Christmas Island, with the loss of 96 lives.

Among the dead were two of Amiri's best friends; that day, he 'swore at God'. He was sentenced to six years' jail in Jakarta's Cipinang prison, while the kingpins, at the time, remained free.

A Lifetime in Longhaul

narrator: Clem Fechner

Qantas pilot 1967-2007. Captain Bill Anderson's flying career spans forty years, amassing a total of 22,139 hours of longhaul flight time. This is his second book, another candid and honest look at the working life of pilots and ground staff in a major world airline.

'The pilots in the longhaul fleet at Qantas have carried Australians to the world, supported by highly skilled engineers and operational ground staff. These are their fascinating stories of passion and commitment. Essential reading for anyone in love with flying.' Geoffrey Thomas

BIRCH, Tony

short stories

The Promise

narrator: John Sharpe

In this breathtaking new work, Tony Birch affirms his position as one of Australia's finest writers of short-form fiction.

Using his unflinching creative gaze, he ponders love and loss and faith. A trio of amateur thieves are left in charge of a baby moments before a heist. A group of boys compete in the final of a marbles tournament, only to find their biggest challenge was the opponent they didn't see coming. Two young friends find a submerged car in their local swimming hole and become obsessed by the mystery of the driver's identity.

Across twelve blistering stories, The Promise delivers a sensitive and often humorous take on the lives of those who have loved, lost and wandered.

BROOKS, David

poetry

The Sons of Clovis

narrator: John Sharpe

Making full use of his skills as novelist, poet and scholar, David Brooks has created a page-turning literary history with the narrative tension of a thriller.

In the mid-1940s, writers James McAuley and Harold Stewart submitted a series of poems to the modernist literary magazine, Angry Penguins, under the fictitious name Ern Malley. In a flurry of excitement, the poems were published in a special edition proclaiming the discovery of an important new Australian voice. When the hoax was exposed, it occupied the front page of newspapers around the nation for weeks. It is still Australia's best-known and most talked-about literary hoax.

BURRELL, Andrew

Australian adult non-fiction

Twiggy

narrator: Hugh Taylor

Andrew “Twiggy” Forrest is the public face of Australia’s once-in-a-lifetime mining boom. A swashbuckling entrepreneur in the finest West Australian tradition, Twiggy took on mining giants BHP Billiton and Rio Tinto at their own game – and won. Yet he has also been embroiled in two of the most heated debates in recent Australian history: over the treatment of Aboriginal people and the mining super-profits tax. In this unauthorised biography, Andrew Burrell traces Twiggy’s business triumphs and disasters to reveal the complicated man behind the myth. Why do his mining ventures attract so much controversy? And what do his philanthropic schemes tell us about him and his plans for the future?

It takes extraordinary force of will, combined with boundless energy and cunning, to create enterprises on such a mammoth scale. With the value of iron ore now integral to the health of the federal budget, Twiggy’s business affects all Australians. This entertaining book gives a unique insight into one of the most powerful men in Australia today.

CALLINAN, Ian

adult fiction adventure

The Missing Masterpiece

narrator: Ray Edmunds

The Missing Masterpiece is a satirical spoof on the snobbish world of art collectors. Ian Callinan uses his insider knowledge to have some wicked fun at the expense of our State art galleries. He exposes a nexus of self-serving politicians, a gallery director’s lust for power and prestige, and a fair amount of gossip, intrigue and fraud.

Foreign Soil

narrator: Barbara Duncan

In Melbourne's western suburbs, in a dilapidated block of flats overhanging the rattling Footscray train lines, a young black mother is working on a collection of stories.

The book is called Foreign Soil. Inside its covers, a desperate asylum seeker is pacing the hallways of Sydney's notorious Villawood detention centre; a seven-year-old Sudanese boy has found solace in a patchwork bike; an enraged black militant is on the warpath through the rebel squats of 1960s Brixton, a Mississippi housewife decides to make the ultimate sacrifice to save her son from small-town ignorance; a young woman leaves rural Jamaica in search of her destiny; and a Sydney schoolgirl loses her way. The young mother keeps writing, the rejection letters keep arriving...

CONDON, Matthew

Australian adult non-fiction

Three Crooked Kings

narrator: Tony Millett

In 1949, a young Terence Murray Lewis graduated from the police academy, ready to start his career in law enforcement. Over the next four decades, he rose to the pinnacle of power as the knighted Commissioner of Police in Queensland before his spectacular downfall and imprisonment after the Fitzgerald Inquiry in the late 1980s. The book follows Lewis' journey through the ranks, as he becomes part of the so-called Rat Pack with detectives Glen Hallahan and Tony Murphy under the guiding influence of Commissioner Frank Bischof. The alleged suicide of prostitute and brothel madam Shirley Brifman in the early 1970s provides the turning point for a culture that reigned unchecked for several decades. It was part of a grand narrative teeming with murder, pay-offs, political machinations, drug heists, assisted suicides, police in-fighting and a complicated system of corruption that ultimately collapsed under its own weight.

Based on unprecedented interviews with Terry Lewis and access to his personal papers, Three Crooked Kings is the missing piece in the puzzle of the story of Queensland's endemic generational corruption. It is a searing story of greed, crime and corruption.

Bitter Wash Road

narrator: Chris Nielsen

When Hirsch heads up Bitter Wash Road to investigate the gunfire, he finds himself cut off without back-up. A pair of thrill killers has been targeting isolated farmhouses on lonely backroads, but Hirsch's first thought is that 'back-up' is nearby - and is about to put a bullet in him.

That's because Hirsch is a whistleblower. Formerly a promising metropolitan officer, now demoted and exiled to a one-cop station in South Australia's wheatbelt. Called a dog by his brother officers. Threats; pistol cartridge in the mailbox.

But the shots on Bitter Wash Road don't tally with Hirsch's assumptions. The truth turns out to be a lot more mundane. And the events that unfold subsequently, a hell of a lot more sinister.

GOLDSWORTHY, Anna

memoir

Welcome to Your New Life

narrator: Anne Cochrane

When Anna Goldsworthy, pianist and perfectionist, falls pregnant with her first child, her excitement is tempered by the daunting journey ahead. In Welcome to Your New Life, she shares the dizzying wonder and crippling anxiety that come with creating new life. Should she indulge her craving for sausage after sixteen years of not eating meat? Will her birth plan involve Enya or hypnosis, or neither? And just how worried should she be about her baby falling into a composting toilet?

This captivating memoir combines warmth and humour to reveal the love that binds families together. Welcome to Your New Life evokes the shock of plunging into a life-changing adventure and the kicking required to return to the surface.

HUNT, David

Girt - The Unauthorised History of Australia

Australian adult non-fiction narrator: Kaye Stevenson

In this hilarious history, David Hunt tells the real story of Australia's past from megafauna to Macquarie ... the cock-ups and curiosities, the forgotten eccentrics and Eureka moments that have made us who we are. Mark Twain wrote of Australian history: 'It does not read like history, but like the most beautiful lies ... but they are all true, they all happened.' In Girt, Hunt uncovers these beautiful lies, recounting the strange and ridiculous episodes that conventional histories ignore. The result is surprising, enlightening – and side-splittingly funny.

Girt explains the role of the coconut in Australia's only military coup, the Dutch obsession with nailing perfectly good kitchenware to posts, and the settlers' fear of Pemulwuy and his Amazing Technicolor Dreamingcoat. It introduces us to forgotten heroes like Mary McLoughlin, transported for the typically Irish crime of 'felony of sock'; Patyegarang, the young Eora girl who co-authored the world's most surprising dictionary; and Trim the cat, who beat a French monkey to become the first animal to circumnavigate Australia.

Our nation's beginnings were steeped in the unlikely, the incongruous and the frankly bizarre. Girt restores these stories to their rightful place. Not to read it would be un-Australian.

JONES, Llody

memoir

A History of Silence

narrator: Ann Tracey

As Christchurch lies in ruins after the catastrophic earthquake of February 2011, Lloyd Jones begins a search for his past, a search that takes him through childhood memories of puzzling events to Pembroke Dock in Wales and finally to the discovery of a devastating court transcript.

On this extraordinary journey, he pieces together the fragments of a story that has been buried in his family for a lifetime. A mother who gave up her daughter, a naval captain drowned at sea, a marriage to save a child. And a truth that changes everything.

Addition

narrator: Barbara Duncan

Grace Lisa Vandenburg counts. The letters in her name (19). The steps she takes every morning to the local café (920); the number of poppy seeds on her slice of orange cake, which dictates the number of bites she'll take to finish it. Grace counts everything, because numbers hold the world together. And she needs to keep an eye on how they're doing.

Seamus Joseph O'Reilly (also a 19, with the sexiest hands Grace has ever seen) thinks she might be better off without the counting. If she could hold down a job, say. Or open her kitchen cupboards without conducting an inventory, or make a sandwich containing an unknown number of sprouts.

Grace's problem is that Seamus doesn't count. Her other problem is...he does.

Let's Just Say it Wasn't Pretty

narrator: Kaye Stevenson

I've always loved independent women, outspoken women, eccentric women, funny women, flawed women. When someone says about a woman, 'I'm sorry, that's just wrong,' I tend to think she must be doing something right."

Diane Keaton has spent a lifetime colouring outside the lines of the conventional notion of beauty. In Let's Just Say It Wasn't Pretty, she shares the wisdom she's accumulated through the years as a mother, daughter, actress, artist and international style icon. This is a book only Diane Keaton could write - a smart and funny chronicle of the ups and downs of living and working in a world obsessed with beauty.

adult non-fiction travel

narrator: Clem Fechner

“A couple of quiet weeks sailing the River Severn was the intention. Somehow things got out of hand – a year later I had reached Romania and was still going ...”

Truly hilarious books are rare. Even rarer are those based on real events. Join A.J. Mackinnon, your charming and eccentric guide, on an amazing voyage in a boat called Jack de Crow.

Equipped with his cheerful optimism and a pith helmet, this Australian Odysseus in a dinghy travels from the borders of North Wales to the Black Sea – 4,900 kilometres over salt and fresh water, under sail, at the oars, or at the end of a tow-rope – through twelve countries, 282 locks and numerous trials and adventures, including an encounter with Balkan pirates. Along the way he experiences the kindness of strangers, gets very lost, and perfects the art of slow travel.

ANZAC Day on Mount Everest

narrator: Peter Maiden

When a catastrophic avalanche killed three of their party in 2001 the Australian Army Alpine expedition's plan to conquer Everest teetered on the very brink of disaster. One of the dead was little Kathleen Hackett, only eight-years-old, and the Army brass, together with outraged Australian media, subjected the traumatised team to intense scrutiny.

The expedition continued, undertaking the ultimate human challenge, the conquest of the world's highest mountain. The weather was appalling and the hand-picked Australian team was hit by illness. As it became locked in a desperate life and death battle with the implacable mountain, the team was unaware that back home an Army inquiry was already being established to investigate the expedition's conduct.

Today the question of Australian military justice is front-page news. The acrimonious Everest board of inquiry to which all the members of the 2001 expedition were subjected gives readers of this exciting story a courtside view of the Army judging its own.

Grace's Table

narrator: Kaye Stevenson

Grace has not had twelve people at her table for a long time. Hers isn't the kind of family who share regular Sunday meals. But it isn't every day you turn seventy.

As Grace prepares the feast, she reflects on her life, her marriage and her friendships. When the three generations come together, simmering tensions from the past threaten to boil over. The one thing that no one can talk about is the one thing that no one can forget.

Grace's Table is a moving and often funny novel about the power of memory and the family rituals that define us.

Meatloaf in Manhattan

narrator: Pierce Bragg

In these sixteen tales, Robert Power captures the joys and frailties of seemingly ordinary lives with extraordinary perception and wit. The stories take us from a Manhattan diner to a train station in Vietnam, from the Wild West to small town Australia, in a dazzling display of faith in language and in life.

A man staying in New York pretends to be blind and inveigles his way past the defences of a lonely diner waitress; a child beggar in Vietnam carves a determined path through loss and into the world; a father falls prey to the temptations of the internet; a client discovers his psychiatrist's startling secret; and a wife sends a beautiful, but shocking, letter to her husband, the postman.

Each delicious story transports the reader into another world and life with authorial grace and an assured lightness of touch.

The Italians at Cleat's Corner Store

narrator: John Sharpe

In 1949, the arrival of an Italian family sets tongues wagging in the village of Leyton, an English farming community still recovering from the war. For seventeen-year-old Connie, however, the newcomers provide a tantalising glimpse of the wider world - a world beyond the gossip and petty concerns traded over the counter of Cleat's Corner Store.

Under their father's stern eye, the Onorati brothers adapt to their new life in remarkably different ways. While the charismatic Vittorio is determined to reinvent himself and embrace all things English, the solitary Lucio is haunted by the secrets of his past - events that tether him to the war in the mountains of Lazio.

As both brothers begin to cast an unexpected influence over Leyton, Connie realises that, like them, she must grapple with her ambitions and dreams for the future. But what can any of them hope to find in the ruins of all they've lost?

narrator: Clem Fechner

Rusden wrote of his maritime experiences in an autobiography which recounts a colorful life in the South Pacific. Over a period of 50 years he captained some 28 vessels ranging from cruising yachts to luxury motor yachts and larger cargo vessels. He provides valuable insights into the life of numerous South Pacific societies (including the Cook Islands, Tahiti, Samoa, Tonga Vanuatu, New Caledonia, the Galapagos Islands and many small atolls) in the era before mass tourism and modernization. According to an online tribute, Rusden died on 19 June 2012 at the Gold Coast, Queensland, Australia, aged 93.

memoir

Gazing at the Stars

narrator: Barbara Duncan

In March 1939, seven-year-old Eva Weiss's innocence was shattered by Germany's invasion of her homeland, Slovakia. Over the next five years, as the Nazi persecution of Europe's Jews gathered momentum, Eva's parents were forced to send their children into hiding, but she and her sister Marta could not avoid capture.

In this remarkable memoir, Eva recounts her experiences at the Auschwitz-Birkenau concentration camp. There, she witnessed countless horrors and was herself subjected to torture, extreme deprivation, and medical experimentation at the hands of the notorious Dr Josef Mengele. When the Soviet army liberated the survivors of Auschwitz early in 1945, Eva and Marta faced a new challenge - crossing war-torn Europe to be reunited with their family.

The Early Years

The Queensland Tape Recordists Association (QTRA) was formed in November 1967 as a social club for those interested in tape recording as a hobby. Many members were associated with radio broadcasting.

In May 1968 the QTRA introduced a bylaw setting up an Auxiliary for the Blind, the first project being completed in June 1968 for the Narbethong School for Visually Handicapped Children. Mr Max Vines was the Chairman of this Auxiliary.

In February 1969 Don Cottrell and Eric Searle, the Principal of Narbethong, discussed the possibility of the expansion of the service to include the physically handicapped and to also establish a lending library.

The Inaugural Meeting of the QTRA Auxiliary for the Handicapped was held on 13 May 1969. Eighteen people were present. Don Cottrell was nominated President; Vice President: Archdeacon Richards; Secretary: Miss R. Langworth; Registrar: Mrs P. Hicks-Hill. The Representatives for the Handicapped were Ian Stewart and Fred Turner.

QTRA presented a donation of $20 to the Registrar and people present at the Inaugural Meeting were asked to donate $4 on a loan basis, the money to be used for the purchase of the initial tape stock. The recordings were to be made on open reeled recorders.

By the meeting of 3 September 1969 more than 100 projects had been transcribed, including plays by Drama Groups at Bundaberg. There were 35 registered "transcribers" (three of whom were inmates of correctional facilities). The number of transcribers (as the narrators were then referred to) was to fluctuate over the years. Recruiting was mainly by word of mouth, although radio programs, articles in newspapers and letters to community organisations brought additional transcribers.

The consumers receiving the audio productions were students of Narbethong and a number of blind students at tertiary institutions, people with other disabilities and elderly people with degenerative eye conditions or poor sight.

Offers of assistance were to come from the JC's, Lions and Rotary. Appeals were made to churches in the community. A team from the Auxiliary appeared on Play Your Hunch (a television games show) winning $30.00.

In later years donations were to come from the Lady Mayoress' Social and Welfare Committee, Lady Bjelke-Petersen Welfare Committee and the Department of Community Welfare and Sport. Clan Mackenzie has given an annual donation since the early 1970's. UTAH, MIM and Jupiters have given large donations for the purchase of specific recording and copying equipment.

At the AGM of 25 May 1970 Mr T R Wielaert was elected President and held that position until 1982. During this time he was actively involved in transcribing, was chief copier of tapes and delivery man. He was awarded the BEM in 1977 and upon retirement from the Presidency he was presented with the first Life Membership of the Association.
